

HVAC Maintenance

We are seeking a trades person to undertake a mixture of electrical and HVAC maintenance duties and are looking for the right fit for our professional trades company. You might already be in the HVAC industry or you may be an electrical / controls / mechanical trades person wanting to break in to the industry. If so, we are interested in hearing from you.

This role represents an exciting opportunity to acquire knowledge and practice a diverse range of skills in an organisation that prides itself on delivering quality service.

We need someone who:

- Has formal Electrical qualifications;
- Is a quick and keen learner;
- Is tidy, presentable and articulate;
- Enjoys helping people;
- Has the right attitude and work ethic;
- Is capable of working on their own;
- Has a clean and current drivers license;
- Will pass stringent security checks;
- Embraces new and modern technology to enhance productivity;
- Experience working in commercial buildings would be beneficial but not essential;
- Is a New Zealand resident.

Our client provides air conditioning, electrical and plumbing maintenance and construction services to many of Wellington's leading Commercial Property Owners and Managers and is proud to service many prestigious buildings in Wellington.

They have a hard working talented crew of tradesmen who are mobile around the Wellington CBD, supported by a strong team based at their Wellington based office.

A competitive wage, work vehicle, mobile phone and uniform.

So whether you have air conditioning experience or are a trades person who is interested in gaining further skills, training and experience, send us an email to introduce yourself along with your CV to: anne.smith@jobsmith.co.nz
